Wifie and hubby get a call from Hubby's boss who leaves his eight year old son with them- for the day. The kid starts a rumpus right off the reel and when they threaten to spank him he tells them that he will tell his papa.

Going riding in their flivver, they get four punctures and after a time, when only their rims are left, they stall on a railway track. Climbing out in time to avoid the onrushing locomotive, an engine four feet high which totes the kiddies about in an amusement park, they are soundly rated by the engineer. The latter blows his breath against the feeble flivver and it backs away.

The kid insists that they buy him dozens of bottles of pop and other things which gladden the hearts of brats. The butler takes him on a merry go round. The kid pulls the lever and the butler whirls so swiftly he is groggy on leaving.

The kid slips away. The butler looks for him all over the park and mistaking a little old guy dressed the same as his charge, he hastily picks him and soundly spansks him. When he realizes his mistake, the old man's son enters the scenes and knocks the spanker for a row of dizzy dodos..

In the end the boy's father tells them he will leave his kid with them for six months while he is in Europe. They almost collapse.
